DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

1. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

2. Claims 8-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims are directed towards a medium upon which is provided a plurality of “thought units,” each of which displays a plurality of “thought results.” The “thought results” appear to be the thoughts of various participants of a meeting, which are not patentable subject matter.

The Federal Circuit has applied the practical application test to determine whether claimed subject matter is patentable under 35 USC 101. ATT Corp. V. Excel Communications, Inc., 172 F.3d 1352, 1359-60, 50 USPQ2d 1447, 1452-53 (Fed. Cir. 1999); State Street Bank & Trust Co. V. Signature Financial Group Inc., 149 F.3d 1368, 1373, 47 USPQ2d 1596, 1600 (Fed. Cir. 1998). The test for practical application requires that a “useful, concrete and tangible result” be accomplished. The present invention does not meet the last two requirements of the test, that is; it does not produce a result which is concrete or tangible. The thoughts of a person are subjective and indefinite, and not tangible or concrete.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

4. Claims 8-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as containing subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and/or use the invention. Because the invention does not produce a concrete or tangible result, the invention cannot operate as intended without undue experimentation. Also, the term “thought results” has not been described in the specification in such a way as to make clear to a user how that term is defined. In fact, the specification asserts on page 9, lines 4-5 that “[t]he relationship between the subject and the thought results has no limitation.”

Because the scope of the claims is very unclear, no examination of the claims in view of the prior art has been performed at this time.

Art Unit: 3712

without undue experimentation because by definition, the scope of the thought results is indeterminate.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
